OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY TO THE PRESIDENT

New Delhi, the 11th December, 1950.

No. 16-Pres.—The President is pleased to approve the award of the PARAM VIR CHAKRA to the under-mentioned officer for most conspicuous bravery in the operations in Jammu and Kashmir:—

(The date of act for purposes of entitlement to special pension is given in brackets against the name.)

27373 Naik JADUNATH SINGH, 1 Bn. The Rajput Regiment (Posthumous) (6-2-48).

At No. 2 picquet on Tain Dhar on 6th February 1948. No. 27373 Naik JADUNATH SINGH was in command of a forward section post which bore the full brunt of the enemy attack. This little post was garrisoned by 9 men against overwhelming odds. The enemy launched his attack in successive waves and with great ferocity to overcome this post. The first wave swept up to the post in a ferocious attack. Displaying great valour and superb qualities of leadership Naik JADUNATH SINGH so used the small force at his disposal that the enemy retired in utter confusion.

Four of his men were wounded but Naik JADUNATH SINGH again showed his qualities of good leadership by reorganizing the battered force under him for meeting another onslaught. His coolness and courage were of such an order that the men rallied and were ready for the second attack which came with greater determination and in larger numbers than the preceding one. Though hopelessly outnumbered, this post, under the gallant leadership of Naik JADUNATH SINGH resisted. All were wounded and Naik JADUNATH SINGH, though wounded in the right arm, personally took over the Bren gun from the wounded brengunner. The enemy was right on the walls of the post, but Naik JADUNATH SINGH once again showed outstanding ability and valour of the highest order in action. By his complete disregard for his personal safety, and example of coolness and courage he encouraged his men to fight. His fire was so devastating that what looked like impending defeat was turned into victory and the enemy retired in chaos leaving dead and wounded littered on the ground. With this act of supreme heroism and outstanding example of leadership and determination Naik JADUNATH SINGH saved the post from the second assault.

By this time all men of the post were casualties. The enemy put in his third and final attack in undiminished numbers and determination to capture this post. Naik JADUNATH SINGH now wounded, prepared literally singlehanded to give battle for the third time and with great courage and determination he came out of the sanghar and firing his sten gun made a most magnificent singlehanded charge on the advancing enemy, who, completely taken by surprise, fled in disorder. Naik JADUNATH SINGH however met his gallant death in his third and last charge by two bullets hitting him in the head and chest. Thus charging singlehanded at the advancing enemy this Non-Commissioned Officer performed the highest act of gallantry and self sacrifice and by so doing he saved his section—nay his whole picquet—from being overrun by the enemy at the most critical stage in the battle for the defence of Naushera.

No. 17-Pres.—The President is pleased to approve the award of the VIR CHAKRA to the following for acts of gallantry in the operations in Jammu and Kashmir:—

(The date of act for purposes of entitlement to special pension is given in brackets against the names.)

Major SHIVAJI WASUDEO SHAHANE (IC 901),
Artillery att'd 1 AOP Flight

On 14th December 1948, Major SHAHANE was detailed to go up in an aircraft to locate and engage enemy guns and movements in the area Kabutargala, Batot and Bagsar. As he flew over the enemy area he came under heavy anti-aircraft fire, but without caring for his personal safety, he reconnoitred an enemy battery and successfully engaged it.

As observation was difficult, he came back and went up again for cross-observation. He was greeted again by enemy anti-aircraft fire, but he carried on bringing to bear heavy artillery fire on the enemy battery and neutralised it. Later, he carried out further reconnoissances and located two other enemy gun positions.

Thus by his dauntless courage, dogged determination and skill in airmanship, he carried out his mission successfully from an unarmed and unarmoured aircraft with complete disregard to his personal safety.

Captain JAGDISH SINGH (J & K 152), 9 Bn.
The J & K Infantry

On the night of November 19/20th, 1948 Captain JAGDISH SINGH was commanding a leading Coy of the column which was to capture a hill feature. The enemy which was approximately one Coy strong had tactically sited and well constructed bunkers on this feature and his automatics were nicely covering almost all approaches. Another Coy of approximately 100 hostiles was holding the narrow ridge which lay on the axis of the advance of the column.

The hostiles bitterly opened up with all their rifles and automatics as soon as the advance platoon of Capt. JAGDISH SINGH approached the locality. Though himself under heavy fire Captain JAGDISH SINGH quickly appreciated that enemy weapons were so sited that they could not fire on the southern slope and with great presence of mind and by tactical manoeuvring he charged the enemy with his 2nd platoon from that direction. The hostiles were taken by surprise and ran for their lives suffering heavy casualties.

He then resumed his advance to capture the objective. The enemy was sticking to his position but our artillery fire had created a gap in the enemy position by hitting an LMG post and Captain JAGDISH SINGH took the whole Coy through that gap completely surprising the enemy, who, fled away in chaos leaving 4 dead.

Throughout this action Captain JAGDISH SINGH showed outstanding leadership, personal example of courage and gallantry marked presence of mind, and cool determination.

Jemadar BHAGWAN DASS, 14 Bn. The J & K Militia
(6-11-48)

On 5th November 1948, Jemadar BHAGWAN DASS led a bold attack inside enemy held territory, on a convoy of mules laden with rations for Kargil, drove off the enemy escort and captured 22 mules with rations.

Again on 6th November 1948, Jemadar BHAGWAN DASS with his platoon volunteered to attack the enemy to clear the way for other troops to pass through to attack Padam. The enemy over 40 strong armed with 2 Bren guns and service rifles was entrenched on a steep hill and was so positioned that no movement within 100 yards could take place without his knowledge.

Jemadar BHAGWAN DASS led his platoon under cover to the foot of the hill. Under enemy fire from 150 yards below the enemy position he ordered a bayonet charge. Ahead of his men he led the attack with his 25 men by firing a light Machine gun from the hip. The attack was so bold and sudden that the enemy fled in complete disorder and the enemy position was occupied. Jemadar BHAGWAN DASS pressed on his attack singlehanded and killed six and wounded four.

Jemadar BHAGWAN DASS showed cold, calculated and inspiring courage by this great act and the column was able to advance to its objective.

Jemadar HANAS RAJ, 9 Bn. The J & K Militia
(Posthumous) (11-11-48)

On 11th November 1948, Jemadar HANAS RAJ led an attack on two enemy positions in Riasi area. The enemy fire was so heavy, that a leader of average courage could not have attempted an advance without extra support. This gallant JCO, however, without regard to his personal safety and in spite of enemy fire being mainly directed towards him, successfully charged the enemy and captured both the positions one after the other. After the capture of the second position, he was hit by an LMG burst from a different direction and died.

During the whole action he showed great gallantry and extreme devotion to duty.

9105244 Naik SHIV RAM, 8 Bn. The J & K Militia.
(20-11-48)

On the night of 19/20th November 1948, Naik SHIV RAM's section was leading the column advancing to capture Khanetar Gali. When his section was within 100 yards of the objective, the enemy opened up heavy automatic and rifle grenade fire as a result of which one of our ORs was killed and another wounded. Naik SHIV RAM, in complete disregard of his personal safety, rushed straight into enemy forward position, killed two and made the enemy Bren gunner run away. Thus he opened the way for the rest of the column to charge in strength. The enemy was overpowered and began to run in disorder. Naik SHIV RAM followed them with a torch in his hand and helped in the capture of two prisoners alive with arms.

Again, on 20th November 1948, Naik SHIV RAM was detailed with his section on a reconnaissance patrol to Khanetar Nullah where he ran into an enemy ambush. Finding himself surrounded by a strong enemy, Naik SHIV RAM did not lose courage and initiative; instead he bolstered up the morale of his men and personally led the counter-attack with such a dash that made the enemy give way. In this encounter, the enemy suffered many casualties and a JCO was captured alive with rifle by Naik SHIV RAM.

On both the occasions, this fearless NCO exhibited outstanding gallantry, inspiring leadership and devotion to duty.

3030631 L/Naik LAKHPAT RAM, 1 Bn. The Rajput Regiment. (Posthumous) (6-2-48)

On 6th February 1948, one of our picquets at Tain Dhar near Naushera was subjected to very heavy rifle, light machine gun and grenade fire. The forward Bren gun post held by L/Naik LAKHPAT RAM, who was 2nd-in-Command, was the main target of the fire. Naik LAKHPAT RAM went on throwing hand grenades on the enemy causing heavy casualties. In spite of his having been wounded in the arm, he kept on throwing hand grenades on the enemy and accounted for many casualties.

Later, he showed great gallantry by picking up a hand grenade which was thrown into his trench by the enemy, but unfortunately it blew up and killed him. By this gallant act he saved the lives of other two men in his post.

His self-sacrifice, bravery and devotion to duty were of the highest order.

51909 Sapper LAXMAN POWAR, Det. 22 Field Company Engineers. (Posthumous) (12-12-48)

On the night of 18/19th October 1948, near Poonch, an enemy feature was captured after a close battle which forced the enemy to withdraw. But the enemy started consolidating for a counter-attack and opened up heavy mortar and automatic fire. At this time, Sapper LAXMAN POWAR was ordered to lay mines to stem the advance of the enemy. The fire was heavy but without caring for his safety he finished his task.

Sapper LAXMAN POWAR repeated this heroic performance again when on the night of 19/20th November 1948, he was ordered to clear mines from a picquet from where the main column of our attacking force had to pass.

On the 2nd December he was again ordered, along with other seven men, to clear mines around another picquet to enable the advance of our troops. While clearing the mines, one of the men, was accidentally caught in a dangerous area. Realising the danger, Sapper LAXMAN POWAR in complete disregard to his personal safety rushed to the spot to save the life of his comrade. He struggled for some time and pulled out his comrade safely, but unluckily he himself got caught in the mine field and a mine exploded killing him instantaneously.

Thus he sacrificed his life in order to save the life of his comrade. His was a rare and outstanding example of self-sacrifice, bravery and extreme devotion to duty with no regard to personal safety.

2529055 Sepoy SANAL KUMARAN PILLAI, 4 Bn. The Madras Regiment (10-11-48)

On the night of 25th October 1948, Sepoy SANAL KUMARAN PILLAI was the signaller with the forward Coy which was on the night march in a difficult and mostly unrecognised country with the object of capturing Pirkalawa a dominating feature north west of Rajori. The whole night there was communication, so vital in this operation, and Sepoy PILLAI kept a "listening watch" on his set under great hardship.

On 26th October 1948 the Coy. was held up by heavy and accurate MMG and SA fire from 1500 yards and had to take cover. Communication was very poor and this Sepoy regardless of personal safety got out of the cover to a more favourable position and erected a longer aerial and maintained excellent communication. But soon after this, the enemy detected the set and brought heavy fire on him destroying his wireless satchel by mortar fire. This however did not worry him a bit. Excellent communication that he maintained was instrumental in achieving the objective with the minimum of casualty.

Again on 10th November 1948 the Coy. was ordered to capture a vital feature known as "CAMEL HUMP". The Coy. was pinned down about 600 yards from its objective by heavy and accurate mortar fire followed by MMG and LMG fire. The Artillery OP set went out of order and all communication was made through Sepoy PILLAI's set. He had to expose himself several times to maintain communication.

Enemy sniper detecting activity near Sepoy PILLAI's set fired a shot which passed through his steel helmet but he carried on maintaining communication.

He was a great help to his Coy. in achieving its objective successfully and in keeping down casualties.

His devotion to duty and perfect coolness under heavy exacting circumstances set an example of the highest order.

3030697 Sepoy BUDH RAM, 1 Bn. The Rajput Regiment. (Posthumous) (6-2-48)

On 6th February 1948, at Tain Dhar near Naushera, Sepoy BUDH RAM was No. 2 on the 2 in. mortar on a picquet which was attacked by enemy over 2000 strong. The mortar ammunition had run short due to the momentum of the battle. Sepoy BUDH RAM immediately ran down to the Coy. ammunition dump and brought back carriers of 2 in. mortar ammunition despite heavy enemy fire. As the ammunition demand was heavy, he went down again to fetch some more but this time he was wounded. By this time the platoon had suffered heavy casualties and three was no other man available to replenish the ammunition. He went down again on his own initiative to fetch some more ammunition. Although profusely bleeding, he reached the Platoon HQ where he collapsed and died.

By his personal courage, self-sacrifice and devotion to duty he set an example which was worthy of the highest praise.
